BEHOLD I WILL SEND MY MESSENGE
AND HE SHALL PREP
THE WAY BEFORE M
Mal.

And he shall turn the hearts of the Fathers to the Children and the hearts of the Children to their Fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

Prepare the way of the Lord. Make his paths straight. Every valley shall be filled and every mountain shall be brought low. And the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth.

He that hath two coats let him impart to him that hath none. And he that hath meat let him do likewise.

And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees and every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is cut down and cast into the fire.

In his weekly news report to the citizens, Mayor C. T. Moses ,Jr. today announced that the Town has employed Strode Burks as Town Policeman. He goes on duty today. The Mayor's statement:

"I want to again thank all of you fine people for your cooperation toward our Fall Clean-Up campaign.

"The Town employees have been rather busy during the past week working on the water and sewer system, so I think it would be fine if we all can concentrate our efforts on the streets in Hillcrest again this week and exert every effort to make them spotless.

"The Town Council held a special meeting on Monday, Oct. 28th, and at this time the Council hired a Town Policeman. This gentleman is Mr. Strode Burks, and he will go on duty as of Thursday night, Oct. 31. In the event you should need him, his telephone number is 4506.

"At this time, I would like to make a special plea to everyone to be a little more careful in their driving and parking, for Mr. Burks has been authorized to enforce the law and be on the lookout for careless and reckless driving. I hope that everyone will cooperate with the new officer..

"On Hallowe'en, Thurs., Oct. 31, we want everyone to have a fine time and enjoy themselves, but let's be very mindful of the fact that no one wants their property destroyed. The Volunteer Fire Company has offered their services for the night along with the Deputy Sheriff. So, I feel sure that this will give everyone the protection for their property they would like.

"In order for us to keep our streets clean, we need the cooperation and assistance of all you fine people. Let's all make a special effort to use the trash cans and not the streets or sidewalks to dispose of trash,"

Sincerely,
C. T. Moses, Jr.

Netherlands Girl Made Hit Here

. . . . Miss Marie Lauwen

Miss Maria Adriana Innocentia Theresia Lauwen, 19-year-old International Farm Youth Exchange Delegate from The Netherlands, has recently spent a week in Appomattox County. While here she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Harrison and sons, of Route 4, Appomattox. In The Netherlands, Maria lives on an 80-acre farm where sugar beets, flax, oats, potatoes and peas are grown.

Maria was most interested in all phases of home making and farming and marveled at our many modern conveniences, especially refrigerators. The temperatures in her country are comparatively low, so they do not have the need for refrigeration that we have here.

While here Maria spoke at the County Home Demonstration Club achievement program, to the Hebron Community 4-H Club, the Appomattox High School, the Concord School, and Campbell County Ruritan Club, reaching a total of approximately 500 people. Maria enjoyed telling of the customs in her country, and did so in a most interesting manner. In the short time she was in the county she captured the hearts of all she met, especially the Harrison family, her hosts.

Check Points For Big Game Are Listed

The law requires that all bear, deer and wild turkeys be reported and tagged at game checking stations during the coming hunting season, D. A. Conner, Game Warden of Appomattox County, pointed out. Tags will be furnished only at the checking stations.

Booker's Filling Station, Mountain View Hunting Club, Bryant's Esso Station, Hunter Dickerson's Store, Woodrow Williams' Store, J. K. Hamilton's Store and Dan Wooldridge's home.

Main purpose of the new regulations, which are in force in most of the states, is to aid in law enforcement and as a means of making a check of the annual kill to assist in managing the various game species.

A spirited campaign will come to a close next Tuesday, Nov. 5, when Virginia voters will go to the polls to elect a Governor, a Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General and members of the House of Delegates. The prediction is for a heavy vote, in response to the appeals of candidates for both major political parties.

Polls open at 6:00 A. M. and will close at 6:00 P. M.

In Appomattox County, leaders are anxious to have a record turnout. A sizable number of mail applications for ballots have come in. Something over 2,500 voters in the county are eligible.

Headed by J. Lindsay Almond as candidate for Governor, the Democratic campaign has been managed by Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, of Appomattox. State Senator Chas. T. Moses, has waged a vigorous drive in behalf of the Democratic campaign, while C. W. Smith and other county leaders have worked diligently to have every possible eligible voter cast a ballot. A vote of over 2,000 in the county is expected.

Senator Chas. T. Moses announced yesterday that a public meeting in the interest of the Democratic candidates would be held in the Elementary School auditorium here on Friday night, Nov. 1. The public is invited to attend.

This meeting will be held at 8:00 o'clock.

State Senator Chas. T. Moses today cited an editorial in the Richmond News Leader of October 22 as a clear exposition of the vital issue before Virginia voters next Tuesday. We quote from the said editorial:

The Law of Virginia

"It has been more than a year since the Virginia General Assembly held its "special" session devoted to school legislation. Paradoxically, the greatest public attention in the interim has been centered upon the least important enactments — the group of laws relating generally to the NAACP, and the single act, Chapter 70, known as the Pupil Placement Act.

"The NAACP measures are under court challenge now. We have no great interest in them. The Pupil Placement Act was voided by the United States Supreme Court yesterday, as most observers were long ago convinced that it would be.

"So far as yesterday's action of the high court is concerned, only a few things need to be said. The first is that in Mr. Arbitrary refusal even to hear argument on the validity of the act, the court once again reflected that disregard for judicial propriety which has characterized so many of its actions in recent years. This newspaper criticized the Pupil Placement Act when the bill was first offered; we always have regarded it as an unnecessary and generally worthless piece of legislation.

"Nevertheless, from a purely legal standpoint, the Pupil Placement Act offered some interesting aspects which well merited judicial review. Beyond this, the Supreme Court of the United States was put on notice that the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia had before it a case challenging this very law. Under the old rules of judicial courtesy, the high court would have delayed its action until Virginia's own judges could be heard from, Instead, the Supreme Court yesterday continued its hard-driving course.

"With this bizarre piece of legislation effectively wiped out, a dozen straight-forward statutes remain that are probably constitutional and certainly are consistent. Whatever criticism may be directed at these remaining laws of the 1956 special session, it must be said that at least they are honestly worded. Together they establish a State policy which boils down to this, that State tax funds cannot be spent, anywhere in Virginia, for the maintenance of public schools in any county or city where white and colored pupils are mixed.

"The principal enactment is known as Chapter 68 of the Extra Session of 1956. It is the governing law of Virginia. Parents should make themselves familiar with what it provides.

"The law opens with a finding of fact by the General Assembly that race-mixing 'could destroy the efficiency' of a public school, and 'would tend to disturb the peace and tranquility of the community in which the school is located.' Then follows
